

JAMES E. FAULCONER

James E. Faulconer is a professor of philosophy, a Richard L. Evans Professor of Religious Understanding, and the associate director of Wheatley Institution, all at Brigham Young University. Faulconer is the author of Romans 1-8: Notes and Reflections on the Life of Holiness (Maxwell Institute, 2012) and the editor of Transcendence in Religion and Philosophy (Indiana UP, 2003) and (with Mark W. Wrathall) Appropriating Heidegger (Cambridge University Press, 2000).